

A housewife turned entrepreneur

Tapati Roy is a homemaker, who has undergone training in tailoring works. Her desire is to set up a readymade garment manufacturing unit. But, arranging of finance was a problem for her. She availed a bank loan for the project cost of Rs. 4.58 lakh under the scheme of PMEGP and started her unit. Along with her husband, she is managing the business. Business is very encouraging and positive results have emerged during the year 2012-13. She is supplying quality readymade garments to many cloth shops in the surrounding areas. Fancy mosquito net, which is a specialized product of her, got popular in the market among consumers.

Annual turnover of the unit has reached to Rs. 12.00 lakh by providing employment to 5 persons.
