

Honey is Sweet and Income Generating

With determination and pursuance deeply rooted Shri Mohammad Naim started his spectacular journey as a bee-keeper and sell products like honey, wax and pollen. He belongs to economically deprived family. Poverty never put him down and his sprit and enthusiasm helped him to rise from ashes.

He came to know about PMEGP scheme from the newspaper and after struggling passionately for years, he eventually laid the firm foundation of 'India Honey' a honey, wax and pollen production unit. He availed bank loan of Rs.7,50,000 from Union Bank of India, Kuru, Lohardaga Branch to set up the unit. His income enhanced, today he is known as a established bee-keeper and honey supplier in the region.

He is encouraging the people to take up the production of honey as a profession. He is proud to see his dreams turned into reality. Timely hassle free support from PMEGP has enabled him to lead a life of dignity. Giving his views to the first generation bee-keeping entrepreneurs he said the scientific training is essential in production of royal jelly, bee-venom and bee-hives. He says this unit is pledged to reduce drudgery in rural sector with a new approach and outlook, its revitalizing and regenerating the opportunities in bee-keeping.
